

Hernando De Soto
(c. 1495–1542): The route of his ill-fated expedition into the Southeast remains one of the region's foremost historical mysteries.